The 23-year-old ex-model, accused with her lover, Dr. R. Bernard Finch, of murdering the surgeon's wife, hugged her parents in the dramatic scene following her release. She will be permitted to remain free until retrial of the couple on May 23.

James Tregoff, her father, and Gladys Tregoff, her stepmother, successfully met the bail premium late Friday after trying for more than 24 hours to raise bail. The parents eventually abandoned efforts to raise full bail and instead put up $2,625 for the bail and premium to two bonding companies, Schwind and Glasser Brother.

After her release, the pretty redhead walked with her parents to a bondsman's office to sign necessary papers.

Then she was free to return with her father and stepmother to their South Pasadena home.

A superior court judge Thursday ordered Carole released on bail. But she remained in custody while attempts were made to

WED 55 YEARS - Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Ford, Corriganville, received a letter of congratulation and certificate of recognition from Governor Tawes on their 55th wedding anniversary. The former Miss Frances Golden, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Golden, Cash Valley, was married to Mr. Ford, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Lewis G. Ford, Cumberland, March 8, 1905, in the Methodist parsonage here by Rev. William Melvin. Mr. and Mrs. Ford are the parents of 10 children, of whom eight are living. According to forestry men, Mr. Ford is the "oldest sawmill man in Maryland." He reports he has sawed lumber for 56 years, he concentrated on "not how much he saws, but how good he can do it," to get the best lumber out of a log. Last evening Mr. Ford said his father had one of the first steam mills, and now he has the only steam mill in the county. The others have converted to diesel. He and his son, Ray, work together. He reports he also farms, growing tomatoes and potatoes on the same vine, by grafting them; builds houses and to keep busy has a hobby of writing and reciting poetry. He declared Mrs. Ford is "a very good cook."

The Golden Time

When Mom and I got married, golden weddings seemed just as remote to us as they probably do to you. Matter of fact, folks celebrating them seemed like museum pieces!

Now here we are, posing for our fiftieth anniversary picture! Funny part of it is that we don't feel a bit like "old folks!"

Still, a couple can't be married for half a century without putting in a lot of living. Mom and I have. There were times when we were so happy we thought we'd burst ... other times when it didn't seem as if we could find the strength to keep going another minute.

Through it all, we've had our church. It's hard to put into words how important that's been. Maybe you'll get an idea when I tell you this. When Mom asked me what I'd like to do to celebrate our anniversary, I said, "First of all, let's go to Church. I want to say a little prayer of thanks."

Mom smiled at me. "So do I," she told me.

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE CUMBERLAND NEWS, CUMBERLAND, MD.,

When Mom and I got married, golden weddings seemed just as remote to us as they probably do to you. Matter of fact, folks celebrating them seemed like museum pieces!

Now here we are, posing for our fiftieth anniversary picture! Funny part of it is that we don't feel a bit like "old folks!"

Still, a couple can't be married for half a century without putting in a lot of living. Mom and I have. There were times when we were so happy we thought we'd burst . . . other times when it didn't seem as if we could find the strength to keep going another minute.

Through it all, we've had our church. It's hard to put into words how important that's been. Maybe you'll get an idea when I tell you this. When Mom asked me what I'd like to do to celebrate our anniversary, I said, "First of all, let's go to Church. I want to say a little prayer of thanks."

Mom smiled at me. "So do I," she told me.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Bishop Walsh And The 'Spy' Charges

The disclosure that Catholic Bishop James Edward Walsh of Cumberland has been sentenced to twenty years in a Red Chinese prison was bleak news indeed to his many friends in Cumberland. Although Peiping Radio had prepared the way a day earlier with the ridiculous charge that Bishop Walsh had for the past twelve years led an alleged U. S. spy ring inside China, the report of his sentence to prison nevertheless came as a shock.

For more than forty years, Bishop Walsh has spent nearly all of his time in China. He went there as a religious missionary in 1918. long before the days of the Chinese Communist regime, and remained despite considerable hardship, even after the Communists gained control. In the face of repeated Communist efforts to dislodge him from his post, the bishop stayed on. When, a few years ago, the Red Chinese told Bishop Walsh he was free to leave the country, he chose to remain because he felt it was his duty to do so. He knew that he was exposing himself to even greater risks than he had already run. His religious zeal apparently prevented him from taking that very heavily

Although it would be foolish to deny flatly that the bishop may have violated some Communist laws-it would be difficult indeed for a practicing Christian not to do so-it is utter nonsense to suppose that a man who has devoted his life to religious work, and who has spent nearly half of his sixty-eight years in China, has now become a master spy for the United States and the Vatican. This is what the Red Chinese contrasted with the "extremists," claim, apparently with the expectation that it

The prison sentence, of course, does not necessarily mean that hope for the bishop's safe return is to be abandoned. It may be that our government can yet negotiate his release. Or it may be that the Communist regime itself does not have many years to give—even as a prison

Castro's Sugar

In a world where power has replaced justice and following a Communist script, where war and the preparation for war are constant, it is not surprising that the American attitude toward Castro is regarded as weakness, as cowardice, as accepting insults because the courage is lacking to

But there is more to it than that. Some American companies have operated in both the United States and Cuba. The principal companies with interests in Cuba are the Cuban American Sugar Refining Company, United Fruit Company, and American Sugar Refining

It is to be noted that a part of the two cents a pound subsidy which Cuba's sugar receives from the United States goes to American companies growing and manufacturing Cuban sugar. Cuba has a quota which currently amounts to 375,000 tons. Whatever goes to the Castro government from this subsidy, is used to purchase arms for Castro's army, to support revolutionary movements in Latin America, and perhaps eventually to demonstrate an ability to strike at some American spot at a time when it may be inconvenient for the United States to engage in a mopping-up of Cuba. The weakness of American policy is based on three theories:

1. The United States is morally a better nation than Soviet Russia and therefore will not treat Cuba as Soviet Russia treated Hungary;

Whatever action is taken against Castro must be taken by the Organization of American States (O.A.S.) and not by the United States solo;

The United States does not wish to irritate Soviet Russia prior to the Summit Conference and therefore it is sound to let Russia or Russian satellites get away with crimes during the present

Unfortunately the formulation of this policy has been left to weak hands. Obviously, it makes no sense and will ultimately lose for us leadership in the Americas as it has lost leadership for us in Asia. Nobody wants to follow a weak leader. John Foster Dulles pulled this country over many hurdles by moving from

He prevented the Russians from choosing the time and place for strained relations. The Suez Canal incident must be judged from that standpoint.

The present policy of the United States, which some attribute to the thinking of Dr. Milton Eisenhower, the President's brother, is an idealistic concept of international relations based on the assumption that if nothing is done, Fidel Castro will come to his senses. It reminds one of the ideas of Col. Raymond Robins, way back in 1917-18, who believed that if the Communists were not interfered with they would ultimately come to their senses. By 1960, we know, for sure, that Soviet Russia has become the objective enemy of the United States with industrial and military strength beyond our imagination in 1917.

The same kind of thinking is going into our attitude toward Castro and we shall probably not wake up to our necessities until this bearded devil throws a bomb on the Panama Canal or on Miami just to show us that he can spit on us. For once and for all, the United States must show that it does not need to take guff from anybody.

The Eisenhower policy of weakness, after he had himself for so many years pursued a policy of strength, is frightening because so much of what is left of freedom in the world depends upon the United States for leadership against Soviet Russia's imperialism. Upon whom are the free and hopeful people to depend if the United States continues As policy of weakness?

Many used to criticize Dean Acheson, when he was Secretary of State, for pursuing a policy of weakness, but, in retrospect, Dean Acheson was a giant of strength compared to what we have now. He, at any rate, attempted to disentangle the United States from the errors of Teheran and Yalta, but now we are risking our national dignity and prestige over a trivial island in the Caribbean. Not only that but we continue to subsidize Castro's government!

What is such a policy expected to accomplish? Politically it is meaningless because Castro knows what Khrushchev knows, namely, that Eisenhower will only be President until next January; that beginning in June, all the political personalities in the United States will be so completely absorbed with the political campaign, that no external question will be considered seriously. It is a good time to make trouble, (Copyright 1960, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Whose Purpose Do Negro 'Sit-Ins' Serve?

By David Lawrence

roy Collins of Florida is known as one of the "moderates." as with respect to racial strife in the South, so what he has just thing from Washington. said in criticism of the "sit-in" demonstrations is indicative of the deep feeling that is being engendered by these episodes.

The governor made a public speech on Tuesday at Lakeland, Florida, which, so far as this writer can determine, was not generally reported in the Northern press. He said:

WASHINGTON - Governor Le-

"Today we see white Americans and colored Americans facing each other with glowering hate, willing to set whole communities aflame, all over whether they are to be permitted to sit at the same counters in ten-cent stores. . . .

'Racial discord in America is whether or not it is written from the Kremlin. I would not know about this. But, frankly, if the leaders in the Kremlin had worked up a plan to weaken us throughout the world. I can think of none which would be more effective than the script we are now following.

The Florida governor declared that the "filibuster in our great national Congress is being projected before the world as a bitter controversy between Americans over whether Negro citizens are free to vote in our free elections." The truth is, as Senator Talmadge of Georgia pointed out the other day, large numbers of Negroes do vote in Southern states. The question of their qualifications hitherto has been a state problem. 'I think," said the governor, "if the men in the Kremlin were writing a prescription for destroying American influence, they would include discrediting American freedom and democracy by presenting us to the world as a nation torn by internal dissensions-incapable of dealing justly with one another in a spirit of mutual respect and brotherhood." President Eisenhower came up with a good suggestion when he proposed at his press conference on Wednesday that there be "biracial conferences in every city and every community of the is "doing something short of our

South," which, he said, would be Now, the different types, differmuch better than "trying to get ent ways in which resentment or up here and direct every single

The President was asked if he believed that Negroes have 'guaranteed rights to eat with whites at lunch counters." He replied:

'Now, my own understanding is that, when an establishment belongs to the public, opened under public charter, and so on, equal rights are involved, but I am not sure that this is the case whatsoever. I was talking about demonstrations of marching in the streets or any other kind of peaceful assembly. . . .

'Now those, to my mind, al, but they have been recog- demonstrations must have known nized in our country as proper that sooner or later the partici-

Constitutional lawyers would add, however, that the people of Little Rock also had a right to assemble in the vicinity of Central High School in 1957, but mere fear of mob violence caused the federal government to send in troops to disperse any assembly, peaceful or otherwise.

Today Negro leaders are provoking bitter feeling in the South by "sit-in" demonstrations which, in themselves are unlawful and a violation of the rights of pri-

the "sit-in" demonstrations, told a press conference this week that the Negroes "think they can violate any law, especially if they have a Bible in their hands." He spoke of the manifestations as being "explosive by their very nature" and said that, while the protest movement was originated by students, it now has been taken over by "outside groups."

The states and cities in the South have a constitutional right, of course, to arrest and punish any persons engaged in a conlong as they are in orderly vate owners of restaurants. Any spiracy to invade the ten-cent fashion, are not only constitution- organization that planned the store restaurants or any other private business establishments where agitations or demonstrasince we have been founded. pants would be ejected and, if tions are conducted. The same stores have a right to bring damage suits in the courts against any individuals who start such demonstrations for the purpose of discrediting the name and business reputation of the owners of the stores. These are "civil rights," too.

The instigators of the current commotion in the South call the agitation "passive resistance." This was the phrase often used in describing rebellious tactics in India during the period of revolt against British rule. But against whom are the provocative demonstrations in the ten-cent stores in the South directed? The federal government has no right to order the stores to open their lunch counters to anyone to whom they choose to deny such privileges. These are private establishments, and, unlike railway stations - which are public utilities - these stores can conform, if they like, to local custom.

Do the leaders of the Negroes really believe they are advancing the cause of "law and order" by these provocative demonstrations? There certainly is need for "bi-racial conferences" such as President Eisenhower has suggested—and some common sense.

Democrats As Complacent As Ike When It Comes To Watching FCC

WASHINGTON - If the Democrats lose the presidential election - and it looks now as if they will - it will be largely because they are just as complacent as they accuse Eisenhower

The other day Eisenhower belatedly fired John Doerfer as chairman of the Federal Communications Commission because he had accepted six days hospitality aboard a yacht owned by a big TV-radio station owner. But just a short time before this, Senate Democrats nonchalantly passed up a chance to make a confirmation fight against another FCC commissioner who also accepted entertainment from broadcasters and who brazenly played politics with the nation's most priceless medium of communication — the airways. He is Robert E. Lee (no relation to the Civil War general), who was confirmed by easygoing Senate Democrats without batting an eye or an instant's hesi-

Lee first began playing politics during the McCarthy purge of Sen. Millard Tydings in 1950. Tydings had stood up to McCarthy when the Wisconsin Senator claimed there were "205 cardcarrying Communists" in the State Department. Tydings' Senate investigation proved there were not.

The man who tried to rescue McCarthy from this tight spot was Robert E. Lee, then Republican clerk of the House Appropriations Committee. He slipped most below-the-belt campaigns in Maryland history to defeat Tydings. Lee, who served as one of McCarthy's henchmen, was shown by a Senate investigation to have picked up a check for $5.000 from Alvin Bentley in Mc-Carthy's office, deposited it to his wife's account, then paid for mailing 300,000 post cards which read: "I shall be deeply grateful for your vote on Tuesday - John Marshall Butler.

The voters who received the cards had no idea that Lee had arranged for many of them to be addressed by nuns in a Maryland convent and that the money to finance the post cards came from a wealthy young man in Michigan, Bentley, grandson of the founder of General Motors.

It is clearly against the Maryland law to handle funds in the name of a political candidate unless you register for such a purpose. But when the scandals of the Maryland campaign were investigated, Jon Jonkel was made the goat and fined $500; R. E. Lee was promoted to be a member of the powerful commission supposed to safeguard and improve the nation's radio-

TV networks. Only apparent qualification he had for this job was that of serving for three months as moderator in Facts Forum, the TV program financed by oil millionaire H. L. Hunt, a big McCarthy backer

Lee's Mercurial Record

Since appointed on the FCC, Lee has brazenly played politics, both where his political party and his church were concerned. He voted to give Channel 10 in Miami to National Airlines, in a decision later reversed by the U. S. Court of Appeals and for which one commissioner has been criminally indicted.

Lee also voted to reverse himself regarding a TV station in Chotiner, campaign manager for Vice President Nixon, pulled wires with the FCC. He also reversed himself on Channel 12 in Jacksonville, Fla., after he received a phone call from Monsignor Maurice Sheehy, formerly of the Catholic University faculcode and the names. Actually Lee voted to give more stations to the big networks and voted against the small UHF stations on "de-intermixture." He voted for Colonel Hobby, husband of Ike's Secretary of Health. Education, and Welfare, in a shocking TV award in Beaumont, Tex., which completely ignored all the Commission's previous ground

> And while Chairman Doerfer was fired for accepting hospitality from a man whom he was regulating, Commissioner Lee also accepted frequent Stork Club hospitality from Roy Cohn, attorney for National Airlines, whom Lee had known through McCarthy; also from Thomas G. Tinsley, owner of WITH in Baltimore and WLEE in Richmond, Va., who has applied for a TV station in Petersburg, Va. Local Virginians had also applied for this TV channel and local people are supposed to get preference. Complacent Senator Pastore

Yet at the very time Tinsley's TV application was under consideration, Lee made a special trip to Baltimore to dine with him. Tinsley, a Baltimorean, not the local Virginians, then got the Petersburg license.

Despite this record, complacent Democrats on the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee, didn't bother even to cast an inquisitive eye on Robert E. Lee when he came up for Senate con-

Bishop Walsh And The 'Spy' Charges

The disclosure that Catholic Bishop James Edward Walsh of Cumberland has been sentenced to twenty years in a Red Chinese prison was bleak news indeed to his many friends in Cumberland. Although Peiping Radio had prepared the way a day earlier with the ridiculous charge that Bishop Walsh had for the past twelve years led an alleged U. S. spy ring inside China, the report of his sentence to prison nevertheless came as a shock.

For more than forty years, Bishop Walsh has spent nearly all of his time in China. He went there as a religious missionary in 1918, long before the days of the Chinese Communist regime, and remained despite considerable hardship, even after the Communists gained control. In the face of repeated Communist efforts to dislodge him from his post, the bishop stayed on. When, a few years ago, the Red Chinese told Bishop Walsh he was free to leave the country, he chose to remain because he felt it was his duty to do so. He knew that he was exposing himself to even greater risks than he had already run. His religious zeal apparently prevented him from taking that very heavily into account.

Although it would be foolish to deny flatly that the bishop may have violated some Communist laws-it would be difficult indeed for a practicing Christian not to do so-it is utter nonsense to suppose that a man who has devoted his life to religious work, and who has spent nearly half of his sixty-eight years in China, has now become a master spy for the United States and the Vatican. This is what the Red Chinese claim, apparently with the expectation that it may be believed.

The prison sentence, of course, does not necessarily mean that hope for the bishop's safe return is to be abandoned. It may be that our government can yet negotiate his release. Or it may be that the Communist regime itself does not have many years to give-even as a prison

where war and the prepara it is not surprising that the American attitude toward Castro is regarded as weakness, as cowardice, as accepting insults because the courage is lacking to

But there is more to it than that. Some American companies have operated in both the United States and Cuba. The principal companies with interests in Cuba are the Cuban American Sugar Refining Company, United Fruit Company, and American Sugar Refining

It is to be noted that a part of the two cents a pound subsidy which Cuba's sugar receives from the United States goes to American companies growing and manufacturing Cuban sugar. Cuba has a quota which currently amounts to 375,000 tons.

Whatever goes to the Castro government from this subsidy, is used to purchase arms for Castro's army, to support revolutionary movements in Latin America, and perhaps eventually to demonstrate an ability to strike at some American spot at a time when it may be inconvenient for the United States to engage in a mopping-up of Cuba.

The weakness of American policy is based on three theories:

1. The United States is morally a better nation than Soviet Russia and therefore will not treat Cuba as Soviet Russia treated Hungary; 2. Whatever action is taken against Castro must be taken by the Organization of American States (O.A.S.) and not by the United States solo; 3. The United States does not wish to irritate Soviet Russia prior to the Summit Conference and therefore it is sound to let Russia or Russian satellites get away with crimes during the present ticklish period.

Unfortunately the formulation of this policy has been left to weak hands. Obviously, it makes no sense and will ultimately lose for us leadership in the Americas as it has lost leadership for us in Asia. Nobody wants to follow a weak leader. John Foster Dulles pulled this country over many hurdles by moving from

He prevented the Russians from choosing the time and place for strained relations. The Suez Canal incident must be judged from that standpoint.

The present policy of the United States, which some attribute to the thinking of Dr. Milton Eisenhower, the President's brother, is an idealistic concept of international relations based on the assumption that if nothing is done, Fidel Castro will come to his senses. It reminds one of the ideas of Col. Raymond Robins, way back in 1917-18, who believed that if the Communists were not interfered with they would ultimately come to their senses. By 1960, we know, for sure, that Soviet Russia has become the objective enemy of the United States with industrial and military strength beyond our imagination in 1917.

The same kind of thinking is going into our attitude toward Castro and we shall probably not wake up to our necessities until this bearded devil throws a bomb on the Panama Canal or on Miami just to show us that he can spit on us. For once and for all, the United States must show that it does not need to take guff from anybody.

The Eisenhower policy of weakness, after he had himself for so many years pursued a policy of strength, is frightening because so much of what is left of freedom in the world depends upon the United States for leadership against Soviet Russia's imperialism. Upon whom are the free and hopeful people to depend if the United States continues As policy of weakness?

Many used to criticize Dean Acheson, when he was Secretary of State, for pursuing a policy of weakness, but, in retrospect, Dean Acheson was a giant of strength compared to what we have now. He, at any rate, attempted to disentangle the United States from the errors of Teheran and Yalta, but now we are risking our national dignity and prestige over a trivial island in the Caribbean. Not only that but we continue to subsidize Castro's government!

What is such a policy expected to accomplish? Politically it is meaningless because Castro knows what Khrushchev knows, namely, that Eisenhower will only be President until next January; that beginning in June, all the political personalities in the United States will be so completely absorbed with the political campaign, that no external question will be considered seriously. It is a good time to make trouble.

But, frankly, if the leaders in the Kremlin had worked up a plan to weaken us throughout the world. I can think of none which would be more effective than the script we are now following.' The Florida governor declared that the "filibuster in our great national Congress is being projected before the world as a bitter controversy between Americans over whether Negro citizens are free to vote in our free elections." The truth is, as Senator Talmadge of Georgia pointed out the other day, large numbers of Negroes do vote in Southern states. The question of their qualifications hitherto has been a state problem. "I think," said the governor, "if the men in the Kremlin were writing a prescription for destroying American influence, they would include discrediting American freedom and democracy by presenting us to the world as a nation torn by internal dissensions-incapable of dealing justly with one another in a spirit of mutual respect and brotherhood."

President Eisenhower came up with a good suggestion when he proposed at his press conference on Wednesday that there be "biracial conferences in every city and every community of the is "doing something short of our

He spoke of the manifestations as being "explosive by their very nature" and said that, while the protest movement was originated by students, it now has been taken over by "outside groups."

The states and cities in the South have a constitutional right, of course, to arrest and punish any persons engaged in a conspiracy to invade the ten-cent store restaurants or any other private business establishments where agitations or demonstrations are conducted. The same stores have a right to bring damage suits in the courts against any individuals who start such demonstrations for the purpose of discrediting the name and business reputation of the owners of the stores. These are "civil rights," too.

The instigators of the current commotion in the South call the agitation "passive resistance." This was the phrase often used in describing rebellious tactics in India during the period of revolt against British rule. But against whom are the provocative demonstrations in the ten-cent stores in the South directed? The federal government has no right to order the stores to open their lunch counters to anyone to whom they choose to deny such privileges. These are private establishments, and, unlike railway stations - which are public utilities - these stores can conform, if they like, to local custom.

Do the leaders of the Negroes really believe they are advancing the cause of "law and order" by these provocative demonstrations? There certainly is need for "bi-racial conferences" such as President Eisenhower has suggested—and some common sense.

Lee, who served as one of McCarthy's henchmen, was shown by a Senate investigation to have picked up a check for $5,000 from Alvin Bentley in Mc-Carthy's office, deposited it to his wife's account, then paid for mailing 300,000 post cards which read: "I shall be deeply grateful for your vote on Tuesday - John Marshall Butler.

But just who they are and what they have actually done is a mystery

All that is known is that wires signed by a "James T. Ross" and a "Bertram Goldsmith" and "Goldsmith and Ross" tipped Natus stock, traded on the N. Y. Stock Exchange. Other wires were sent to a dozen Stock Exchange firms ordering them to buy 500 shares of Natus in those names. Only two such orders were executed

The New York address given on the telegrams turned out to be vacant, although they had been rented without a lease for two months by a "Goldsmith &

A Philadelphia address turned out to be that of a telephone answering service.

Natus stock-not as a result of these-obviously fake wires-had a few days of wild trading on orders that came from all over the The stock for seven days ranged from 151/8 to 173/8 on a daily volume of 1,000 shares to 28,500 shares. Then it started jumping. Volume soared to 140,200 shares tapering off to 48,600 and 17,200 shares. The stock hit 25 on the second big day and has since slipped to below 18.

This all happened in five trading days, with volume more than double that for the entire year of 1959. It wasn't done with mirrors, nor would the flare up of volume just be a coincidence. It was a manipulation.

Natus is a corporate shell, with around $19 million in cash and securities after sale of its properties to the Crane Company. It was formerly National-U. S. Radiator. The shares are worth on a liquidating basis around $17.

Prompt action by those long identified with the company in providing stock on the big volume days may have prevented a real fiasco.

The Stock Exchange has been a little slow on this one, for the manipulation, jiggle or whatever it was started there and it would not have taken too many telephone calls to the firms buying the stock to get the story.

All it takes to nip these operations is for a sharp and slightly jaundiced eyed individual at the tape, helped by an alert special-

While they do not need to know how to read and write, they must be able to sew, cook, perform all kinds of household duties, but in all other ways must be completely subjugated to their husbands, he wrote. The discussion on the influence that "Emile" has had on the world was led by Mrs. John A. Cupler II. The immediate reaction to the publishing of the First Book was a "back to the country" movement which took many of the aristocrats from Paris into the beautiful chateau country of France, she said. In its entirety, as one of the great books in the field of education, "Emile" influenced the trend of education everywhere. With its emphasis on educating "the whole child," its principles were first adopted in Germany, particularly in the kindergarten. In the United States, an adaptation of the plan was introduced by Horace Mann in 1843. In 1865, the movement, with further adaptations, was approved by the National Education Association. In Book Five, it is found that Personally Yours every doctrine preached for Emile is reversed. Girls must be trained to do very specific tasks and to do them expertly. While they do not need to know how to read and write, they must be able to sew, cook, perform all kinds of household duties, but in all other ways must be completely subjugated to their husbands, he wrote. The discussion on the influence that "Emile" has had on the world was led by Mrs. John A. Cupler II. The immediate reaction to the publishing of the First Book was a "back to the country" movement which took many of the aristocrats from Paris into the beautiful chateau country of France, she said. In its entirety, as one of the great books in the field of education, "Emile" influenced the trend of education everywhere. With its emphasis on educating "the whole child," its principles were first adopted in Germany, particularly in the kindergarten. In the United States, an adaptation of the plan was introduced by Horace Mann in 1843. In 1865, the movement, with further adaptations, was approved by the National Education Association. Mercury Vapor Type Is Studied

Tentative plans for installing a modern lighting system in the downtown area have been announced by G. Ray Light, commissioner of water and electric

He said the city hopes to install a new lighting system on Baltimore Street and on North Mechanic and North Centre streets to Bedford Street.

Commissioner Light said the city is exploring several plans for the system.

Systems Studied

He said the city must do something on North Mechanic Street, where several lights have been damaged.

The commissioner said city officials are looking into the possibility that the program can be done cheaper if the city purchases the necessary equipment from an electrical equipment firm, and gets an electrical contractor to install the system.

The Potomac Edison Company, which furnishes lighting services on city streets, prefers, the commissioner said, to install the lights and amortize all costs through an annual charge.

Mr. Light said the city is considering a new mercury vapor light plan, which will give a high level of illumination at less cost
